

Question 3

Was the relationship between the section (if any) and the course effective, and how could it be improved? What are the strengths and weaknesses of your teaching assistant (discussion section leader, lab section leader, grader or other assistant) as an instructor, and how might his/her teaching be improved?

Alexander Witte Cerjan

Alex, I think i can speak for many of us when I say we may not have survived 410 without you. Thanks for being so patient with us. With some TA's, you get the feeling that they look down on you, think you're stupid or not trying, but you are the polar opposite, and instead, you have that cynical attitude towards the world sometimes, or even towards Prof. Stone, which at our lower moments, we definitely appreciated.

I didn't go to too many review sessions, but Alex was nice and helpful at the few I attended. I thought he was a fair grader and returned p sets in a timely manner.

Alex was phenomenal. He was great at answering questions about any of the topics we were covering, and was able to provide a different way of thinking about problems as was given to us in lecture. In part because of his help, I believe I have a much stronger foundation in the mathematics behind most of the physics that we cover in the class.

Response 5

The section was optional but very helpful as a complement to the lectures, as more of a problem-solving session. The TA was helpful in giving insights into the problems and helping us learn physics even more than just from the lectures.

Response 6

Alexander Witte Cerjan

Alex was vital for completing the problem sets, and I certainly gained many insights during the problem sessions. He was accommodating and friendly. No weaknesses come to mind.

Response 9

Alex was an awesome TA. He somehow managed to keep us all sane and get us through all the psets. His explanations were always clear and he clarified many concepts for us. He was also very willing to meet outside of the regular Tuesday help session, which was appreciated.
